

Complying with the international rules and regulations imposed by the Authority, Airport, Operator, and Ground Handler in the air transporting the live animals is vital to prevent severe consequences e.g. returned to origin, quarantined, or even destroyed. This seminar is intended to give the audiences an overview of the IATA Live Animals Regulations (LAR). This can help you understand the rules, requirements, and procedures (e.g. government controls, shipment preparation, acceptance, handling, and loading requirements) of transporting the live animals by air in a safe and humane way, and upholding the animal welfare in long run.
